Gallery's booth at the Biennale des Antiquaires is conceived as a Connoisseur's Salon, a place where visitors will be allowed to dwell in between historically important paintings and sculptures of the preceding century, admiring works of luminaries such as Pierre Soulages, Andy Warhol, Roy Lichtenstein and CY Twombly, to mention only a few. The booth was specially designed by the renowned American architect and collector, Peter Marino, who imagined it as an intimate, elegant viewing space.

The Salon View

Masterpieces presented at the show will be installed in order to visually correspond with a group of bronze box sculptures designed also by Peter Marino, selected from his 2012 series with which he first took part at this event.

A more profound connection will be achieved in a section curated by the acclaimed historian and art dealer Bernard de Grunne, by exhibiting extraordinary pieces of African sculpture. Three seemingly separate wholes will meet and unite on this occasion in creating an artistic spectacle of layered visual and theoretical connections. The juxtaposition of three completely diverse conceptual units will make the Dominique Lévy's Connoisseur's Salon an exhibition of museum quality, which is not to be missed by anyone attending the Parisian Biennale des Antiquaires.
